Get Your Green on at These Earth Week Festivities

Sustainability and the environment will be front and center at SMC’s Earth Day celebration—which has been expanded to last the whole week. On Wednesday, April 24, join in the Earth Day Festival on the De La Salle Lawn at 1 p.m., where you’ll find over 20 booths from on- and off-campus organizations. Get up close and personal with the electric vehicle of your future; grab some fresh eats at the Global Gael Food Truck; and enjoy music and art. Read More
School of Science Career Night

Students: Join the School of Science and Career and Professional Development Services for a panel discussion on science careers on Tuesday, April 23, from 6 to 7 p.m. in Galileo Hall, Room 202. A number of alums will be on hand: Casey Degolia ('08 Health Science), Sarah DeMatteo ('13 Biology), Erin Umutyan ('95 Biology), Daniel Wilkins ('04 Physics), and Emina Zanacic ('17 Environmental Science). Hear about their career path and where they are currently working, and chat with them at a reception immediately following the panel presentation. Learn More

Celebrate at APASA's Night Market

APASA will host its second annual Night Market on Friday, April 26, from 6 to 9 p.m. on the De La Salle lawn. This year's fest will feature more than 20 student-led clubs and organizations. APASA invites all members of the Saint Mary's community to come and enjoy a night filled with food, music, and fun in celebration of different cultures, talents, and experiences. Learn More

Professor Thomas Plante Discusses Clergy Abuse

Leading Catholic psychologist, author, and Santa Clara University Professor Thomas Plante visited Saint Mary’s on Monday, April 1, to discuss sexual abuse in the Catholic Church. Plante has been recognized by Time magazine as one of the three leading Catholics in his field. “Since 2002, there has been a lot of press attention out there, but sadly, there’s a lot of misinformation and myths,” said Plante. Thursday, April 25, is The Bash

Get ready for the 14th Annual The BASH Cultural Night for LGBTQIA+ on Thursday, April 25, at 5:30 p.m. in the Soda Center. This year’s BASH will continue the tradition of highlighting traditionally marginalized identities within queer spaces and society as a whole. Sets will include performances that illuminate the multiplicity of queer identities, including: ability, race and ethnicity, gender identity and expression, and class. “There is no one way to be part of this beautiful community, and we all deserve to be given the opportunity to bloom and bask in the sunlight that illuminates the beauty in our differences,” said Mary Fernandez ’19, social media ambassador. View - A Look-back at the Magic of Jan Term
What makes us different? The way we learn. Today, we're taking a look back at all Jan Term has to offer us. Every January, we take just one course. Yup, just one. We immerse ourselves in a completely different subject. Biology majors become theater performers, art majors become barbarians, and psych majors become beer brewers. Why do we do this? Maybe the better question is, why not? You're never done learning and exploring. Watch the Full Video
